Two Day Printmaking Workshop with Sue Cooke Saturday 5th & Sunday 6th December 2020

Sue Cooke is a printmaker with 35 years' experience. She regularly exhibits both nationally and internationally and conducts workshops. She also has work in many significant national and international collections. Professional in her approach, Sue aims to make the workshop an enriching and enjoyable experience.

The workshop is open to teenagers and adults of all levels, including absolute beginners, and will focus on a hands-on printmaking experience. You will be working with both relief and intaglio methods, using colour and monochromatic inks and learning quality printing methods. Participants will make their own plates under the guidance and advice of Sue and will explore the finer qualities of printed colour and rich blacks, texture, line and papers. Most materials and equipment are supplied.
